

Identifying Target Users

In order to identify target users, we planned to email our friends and colleagues who we identified as “gamers” - i.e people who enjoyed playing games on a regular basis with a questionnaire for them to fill out. In order to get variety within the response pool, we emailed friends of friends that are non-gamers in order to get their opinion on the matter.